Class Motto
B² (Be Square)

Four years ago together,
A Freshman class we stood,
With honorable intentions
That sometimes turned to good.

We studied subjects difficult
That never grew quite clear;
We faltered by the wayside,
But now at last we're here.

We tried the tasks you gave us,
But some were hard to do,
And the scholarship requirements
Often made us cross and blue.

Your ears were deaf to pleading,
We worked with all our might,
And for a noble purpose
We thank you all tonight.

We'll take no tearful leaving,
We'll say no sad goodbyes,
For though our hearts are heavy
The work before us lies.

Our school days have been cheerful,
but now we have to go.
Behind us are our memories--
Ahead our future glows.

And when across our pathway
Life's gray shadow falls,
You'll hear our cheerful footsteps
Returning to your halls.

To you our sincere faculty,
Our loyalty we give.
Let this be your pride and honor,
You taught us how to live.

Class History

"School days, school days, dear old golden rule days"-----this ever familiar tune with all its nostalgic appeal will soon begin to have a really significant meaning for the class of '50 of Swan Quarter High. As we stand at the threshold of life outside of the Swan Quarter High School, it is fitting that we take a backward look at what has happened to us during our four years of high school.

One September morning in 1946, twenty-four boys and girls entered high school. In October many of the class, like most freshmen, went to Raleigh to the State Fair, where they had a most exciting time. At Commencement Clara Mason won the medal given for best student in home economics. Florence Newman was married and left us.

The most outstanding event during our sophomore year was the junior senior banquet at which the girls, Arlene Cahoon, LaRue McKinney, Ruby Hodges, Clara Mason, Eula Baynor, and Marlene Jennette were waitresses. We lost another classmate, Maggie Ballance, who married. Bobby Berry won the agriculture medal this year.

When our junior year came around, we were only sixteen in number--eleven boys and five girls. Five members went back to Sladesville to school. Our junior year was one of activity. Five members of the class had leading parts in the high school play "Cheerio, My Deario." Bill Cochran, John Shelton, Clara Mason, and Ruby Hodges were delegates to the Beta convention in Raleigh. Jay Swindell and Bobby Berry went to the national F F A convention in Kansas City. The outstanding social event was the junior senior banquet which we gave at Mrs. Ricks' in Pantego. The most exciting incident was ordering our class rings. Wahab Cahoon, Jay Swindell, Garth Jarvis, Wade Swindell, Bobby Berry, and Bill Cochran were on the cattle judging team, Wahab Cahoon, Jay Swindell and John Shelton, seed judging team, Garth Jarvis, Wahab Cahoon, C.D. Gibbs, Bobby Berry and Bill Cochran, parliamentary procedure team, and Bill Cochran entered the public speaking contest. All the boys were in F F A field day. Our group won first place. C. D. Gibbs won in high jumping--two years in succession. The five girls went with Mrs. Cann on a tour to Dan River Mills.

Seniors are usually very busy people, and the seniors of '50 have been no exception. With Mrs. Carolyn Harris as our sponsor, we have lived every minute to the fullest. September 12, was a very exciting day for us--our class rings came. Our senior play "Byes of Love", was given in fine style. We enjoyed it as much as the audience. Coming a step closer to graduation, we ordered our caps and gowns. They are sea mist blue with navel blue tassels. Many, many hours have been devoted to work on the annual. Every member in the class has a specific job. There has been fun mingled with the work, for we have had a good time selling ads, making pictures, and assembling materials.

As we draw the curtain on these chronicles of the past, we are looking forward anxiously to May 23 when we will be alumni of Swan Quarter School. We, the sixteen members of the class of 1950--incidentally, the largest graduating class in many years--whose footsteps the halls of Swan Quarter High have tread, hope that our prints on the sands of time will always be sweet memories to our predecessors and followers. We shall all strive to uphold the class motto "B²" (Be Square).

Arlene Cahoon, Historian

Class Prophecy

Amerilla A. Jenkins, the town eccentric, who spends everyday in the library just looking, threads her way among the almost forgotten lore for the 49,102nd time. Suddenly her tired old eyes light on a new volume. It is the famous periodical, Who's Who of 1964. Having secured the book she cracks the cover. I wonder what happened to that class of 1950 of S. Q. H. S. she thinks to herself. Ah, here they are: Cahoon, Shelton, Jarvis, Cochran, the superintendent's son (or was he the Superintendent? Oh, well my memory's bad). Yep, they're all here.

Berry, Bobby--Internationally known impersonator. Speech defects are his speciality. Kkkknow any new ones.

Cahoon, Arlene--Accompanies Gus on the many trips he takes for the Navy. Inspiration for his success and promotions.

Cahoon, Edmond--Sheriff of Hyde County and ABC officer. No crimes have been committed since he has been in office.

Cahoon, Hiatt--Famous movie star. At the present time he is engaged in making eyes at Lullah Oppelt, the new screen sensation.

Cahoon, Wahab--Agriculture teacher at Swan Quarter. He has just had easy chairs installed for all the boys.

Cochran, Bill--Football coach at University of N. C. Just been appointed. So far his team has not lost a game. For that matter they haven't played any yet.

Gibbs, C. D.--Celebrated artist. Has just finished the already world famous painting "Dear Hearts and Gentle People."

Hodges, Ruby--Head Nurse at Layo Clinic. At present time is devoting all energy on anagging the handsome and famous Dr. Elloit Doe.

Jarvis, Garth--Internationally known athlete. Got his fine physique from Charles Atlas, who gave him personal lessons for 5 years after correspondence failed.

Jennette, Marlene--House wife. Finally caught Jack after chasing him from South Carolina to Florida where they now reside on an orange grove.

Mason, Clara--Noted Home Economics teacher. Has just written the book--How to Run Your Husband's Business.

Mason, Hunter--Automobile dealer. Also tests new cars for the Ford company. No car ever survives more than one test.

McKinney, LaRue--Noted English authority. Has all degrees you can make out of our limited alphabet of 26 letters. Now started on the 44,449 letters in the Chinese alphabet.

Shelton, John--Judge of Supreme Court. Big man in politics. Been married 6 years and has just given his wife her 3rd kiss.

Swindell, Jay--Preacher and journalist. Reverend Swindell is Editor of the Hyde County Herald.

Swindell, Wade--Big cattle owner. Owns all land in Hyde County. Inspects herd everyday in high speed airplane.

LaRue McKinney, Prophetess

Last Will and Testament

We, the seniors of Swan Quarter School, realizing we are about to leave our school, wish to read you our last will and testament which we recently drew up and duly signed. We decided in our meeting that it would be unfair and unjust to take away from this school all the glory and greatness that is ours. The school would indeed be bereft, depleted, castdown, dejected, crippled, and always handicapped if we did not leave behind some of our glorious possessions so it could continue to carry on the program in an excellent way. This vine has been growing only four years, but in that short time it has grown profusely and produced abundant fruit. We make a special request that the student body cherish this Glory Vine in our memory. It is a genuine, original, and wonderful product of our class as a whole. We request that it be hung in a prominent place on the auditorium wall. Furthermore, we warn you, that if you do not revere and respect this Glory Vine, that our spirit will haunt you and pursue you for evermore. We wish to dispose of our Glory Vine in the following way:

To our parents and friends who have stood by us in our years of trouble and strife as we climbed the ladder from one through twelve, we leave our best records. May our love and our devotion hold the highest standards in their hearts and memories.

To the school as a whole we bequeath all our originality, personality, loyalty and patronage.

To Mr. Hood and the faculty, who have toiled patiently with us, we bequeath the empty seats to be filled with our successors, and we trust they will measure up to our intelligence, dignity and beauty.

To Mrs. Harris we bequeath our love and our devotion for her kindness, her patience and her everlasting interest as our senior advisor.

To Mrs. Baum we will a more orderly, less "giggly" history class.

To Mrs. Cann we bequeath a class who won't chew chewing gum.

To Mr. Worrell we leave a class who won't worry him with staying in the shop.

To the juniors we bequeath our very superior place as seniors to which all preceding classes look up to if you happen to be taller than they. We also leave to the said juniors the privileges, duty, responsibility and honor of continuing the production of the "Quarterian."

To the sophomores we will our excess "Dignity" and "Grownup ways." We also give them our encouragement to stand by the faculty and friends through thick and thin.

To the freshmen we bequeath our sympathy and courage to bear the insults from the upper classmen during their reign as freshmen.

We bequeath to all oncoming basketball teams a radar-operated ball that will never miss the goal.

We make the following bequests to individuals:

Bobby Berry leaves his excess "natural curls" to Glenn Carawan. Are you sure you can spare them, Bobby?

Edmond Cahoon wills his English book to Mrs. Harris, his physics book to Mr. Hood, and his history book to Mrs. Baum. Wonder if they will use them?

Bill Cochran wills his job as business manager of the "Quarterian" to Tooley, his job as president of the senior class to Arlen Swindell, his job as president of the F. F. A. to William Harris, and his job as public speaker to Merlin Berry. Good hearted, eh? Not putting all that responsibility on one person.

Hunter Mason bequeaths his ability to smoke without getting caught to Allen Credle. You're doing fine, Allen.

Garth Jarvis bequeaths his ability to play basketball to William Equils. Maybe Garth will be your coach, William.

Wahab Cahoon wills his brilliant mind to Gene A. Swindell. Make good use of it, Gene.

Jay Swindell bequeaths his surplus height to Merlin Berry. Do you really need it, Shorty?

Wade Swindell wills his ways with females to Dallas Berry. Ask Wade for a little training, Dallas.

C. D. Gibbs bequeaths his slick-combed wig to Travis Sadler. That means throw away all combs and hair oil, Travis.

John Shelton wills a history student to Mrs. Baum, who won't argue over the history questions. Better start looking around, John.

Hiatt Cahoon wills his cute ways to Cleron Carawan. Get all information possible from Hiatt, Cleron.

Arlene Cahoon wills her winning smile and pretty dimples to Janice Gibbs. Ask Arlene for a little training, Janice.

Ruby Hodges bequeaths her surplus "Beauty" to Ann Carawan. You'd better look elsewhere, Ann.

Marlene Jennette leaves her friendliness to Norma Earle Swindell. Does she really need it, Marlene?

Clara Mason wills her ability to catch a MAN to Ruby Brinn. You'd better be on your P's and Q's, Ruby.

LaRue McKinney bequeaths her ability to get good grades to Georgia Ann Credle. Better start improving, Georgia Ann.

I, Marlene Jennette, leave this document in the hands of oncoming classes, sealed and delivered this twenty-fourth day of May in the year of our Lord Nineteen Hundred and Fifty.

Holds her job down mighty well.

The vice president who is Sherma Lee,
Takes the president's place with glee.

Our secretary, Alethia Blake,
Has all the reports there are to make.

Norma Earle who is our treasurer,
Handles the money with great pleasure.

Our reporter who is Bobbie Jean,
Has a mind that is very keen.

Hello Graduates,

I am back from the class of '32 with a lesson on advertisement.

Management is the art and science of preparing, organizing and directing human effort applied to control the sources of nature for the benefit of man.

We manage the timber source to benefit our neighbors, old and new, so that they may, in turn, benefit us with money (a high standard of living and security) and happiness.
